

MAYOR'S INTERFAITH BREAKFAST
HOSTED BY THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION

MINUTES

January 15, 2018

The Mayor and the Norman Human Rights Commission hosted the Interfaith Breakfast on January 15, 2018, beginning at 7:00 a.m. The Interfaith Breakfast was held at McFarlin Memorial United Methodist Church located at 419 S. University Blvd. Notice of the Interfaith Breakfast was timely posted at City Hall, and the event was open to the public. Although the Interfaith Breakfast was not a regularly scheduled meeting of the Human Rights Commission, a quorum of the Commission was present; therefore, a summary of the Interfaith Breakfast is recorded as required by the Open Meeting Act.

PRESENT: Commissioners Kay Ham, Mary Lou Drywater, Marjaneh Seraifi-Pour, Daniel Dukes, Jackie Farley, and Sage Mauldin

ABSENT: Commissioners Mary Womack, Kirsten Edwards, and Chris Nanny

Jabar Shumate, Vice President for the University Community at the University of Oklahoma, presented a keynote address entitled, "Moving toward the More Beloved Community." Inspirational commentary and prayers were shared by leaders representing a number of diverse faiths.
